

AeroEx GmbH is a Swiss-based company that provides comprehensive consultancy and support services to the aerospace industry. Our global team of experts develops individual and innovative solutions to support customers in implementing international aviation standards. We specialize in regulatory safety and compliance, combining our strengths in various aerospace industry sectors. Our proprietary aviation cloud platform, AMAS.aero, helps organizations in the aviation industry to manage and maintain safety and compliance with the latest regulations and standards. AMAS.aero digitizes and transforms human knowledge and experience into digital solutions, making compliance and safety management processes more accessible and reliable.

To further expand our activities, we seek an experienced and performance-motivated to permanently join our team at the company headquarters.

Compliance and Safety Manager Aviation CAMO/MRO (m/f/d)

You will perform the following tasks within customer projects:

- Taking over the function of an auditor, safety, or compliance manager for our customers
- Ensure that all activities within the scope of regulatory approvals are correctly carried out under the supervision of the responsible manager of the respective functional area.
- Responsible for ensuring that the safety and compliance management system is implemented correctly, maintained, continually reviewed, and improved.
- Performing internal and external audits and inspections
- Process optimization within the management system
- Communication with the relevant national and international authorities
- Monitoring of suppliers
- Assistance with the creation and revision of manuals
- Technical analysis and implementation tasks in projects
- Participation and support for internal and external projects

Your qualification:

- Degree in aeronautical engineering or comparable knowledge and abilities gained through professional training and experience in the aviation business
- Several years of professional experience with a business aviation or airline operator in the area of airworthiness Organization (CAMO) and MRO (Part-145)
- Qualification as an aviation auditor
- Good knowledge of national and international aviation safety regulations, in-depth knowledge of Continuing Airworthiness Regulation (EU) No 1321/2014 Annex I (Part-M), Annex Vc (Part-CAMO), and Annex II (Part-145)
- Experience in project management, compliance monitoring, and safety management
- Distinct customer and service orientation
- Able to work independently, highly motivated, and committed
- Excellent team and communication skills
- Mobility and willingness to travel
- Highly articulate and good oral and written German and English communication skills (Spanish or French language are an advantage)

We offer:

- A fascinating, future-oriented job dealing with domestic and foreign customers
- Team-oriented work in an innovative environment
- Flexible working arrangements
- Possibility to work from home
- A competitive salary and benefits package
- Professional development and training opportunities

Interested?

If you are interested in the position, please send your CV and cover letter stating your salary expectations and the earliest possible date of joining by email to hr@aeroex.eu.